

H. V. RY. REVIEW.

List of Conductors and Brakemen is Larger than ever Had.

The list of conductors and brakemen at the Logan terminal of the Hocking Valley, and running on the River Division, from Logan to Pomeroy and Logan to Wellston, is larger than was ever before known. It contains the names of 51 men, 14 conductors, 8 extra conductors and 34 brakemen. To become a flagman, a brakemen must serve one year, and there are about 24 men eligible for that work.

The oldest man in service out of Logan is W. C. Bennett, who with his brakemen, John Bowen, come north from Pomeroy on train No. 135 and returns on No. 134.

The next conductor is Frank McBride, of Logan, and his brakeman, Harry Green, who go to Pomeroy on No. 130 and return on No. 137.

Harley Thomas comes to Logan from Wellston on No. 133 every morning and goes back on No. 428, a mixed train. After his return trip on No. 428, he runs what he might termed a shuttle train between Jackson, Wellston and Dundas. His brakeman is C. E. Stroth.

Jesse Voris and Bert Wilson run the crews on the Local freights from Logan to Pomeroy. Nos. 41 and 42. Voris crew consists of Ben Evans, S. B. Knowlton and T. J. Lanane, Wilson's of F. J. Courtier, Chas. Unkle and Wm. Kitchen.

The other conductors at and out of Logan are G. F. Eutsler, Sam Mundy, W. E. Glenn, W. E. Petty, John Buntz, C. R. Krieg, John Bownes, Geo. Lemon and Wm. Poling, the last four being yard conductors. The extra conductors are Ben Evans, R. H. Johnson and D. A. Williams.

The list of flagmen has the names of Harry Fitzgerald, M. A. Krans, Rancey Poling, Guy Hansel, Ed. Clark, Joe Savy, with Hugh Mundy and Jake Savy as extra flagmen.

The list of men posing as "Front Shack and Railbender" for in other words Head Brakemen, is as follows: Allen Spence, Walter Blosser, C. N. Grigsby, Jas. Weed, Wm. Ryan, N. Kitchen, Wm. Griner, Frank Villar, John Sanders, and James Poling.

The men in the Logan yard are as follows:

Regular day yard crew, C. R. Krieg, conductor, Chas. Krieg and Ed. Ballard. Extra day yard crew, Geo. Lemon, conductor, Ed. Ohlinger and Geo. Smith. Regular night yard crew, John Bownes, conductor, Ray Odell and N. S. Matheny. Extra night yard crew, Wm. Poling, conductor, Jake Savy and Earl Hartley.

Another crew out of Logan, but really a Nelsonville crew is that of conductor Frank Harrold, running from Logan to New Straitsville each morning and returning in the evening. His crew are Brakemen Proctor and Duffy.

Special line of fancy box candies for the Holiday Trade. They are beauties, and would make a very handsome little remembrance to a friend. Perone makes his own candies and they are pure.

Address

DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL, Logan, Ohio

General Grosvenor was a candidate for renomination, but was confronted with a serious revolt among the Republicans who in former years had supported him.

Several men entered the race against him, among them Albert Douglas and White. The Hocking County delegation was controlled by White, and General Grosvenor made an earnest effort to get him over to his side.

A story was told at the convention that White was offered $2,000 to throw his strength to the General, and the money was actually produced as evidence of its truth. It was in new currency, and was said to have been left in White's room at the hotel. General Grosvenor denied that he had anything to do with it, and even questioned the veracity of those who declared the money was to be used for the purpose indicated. Whether the cash was donated subsequently to a charitable institution or sent to the conscience fund of the Treasury Department at Washington is not known here.

White, it will be remembered, threw his delegation to Douglas, who achieved an easy triumph over Grosvenor. The new Representative, appreciative of the work done for him by the local leaders of his district, has been handing out prizes whenever he finds himself able to do so. On his recommendation C. H. Bryson, one of the organizers of the anti-Grosvenor movement, was appointed Postmaster at Athens five or six weeks ago. Now comes White, who supersedes another of Grosvenor's appointees, and doubtless others will follow.

Concerning That Webb Summit Route.

Dec. 16, 1907.

THE DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL, Logan, Ohio.

Sirs:

An article in the December fifth issue of your paper, complaining of inferior mail facilities afforded by rural route No. 1 Webb Summit, Ohio, which was transferred to that office from Logan on the first of September, has been received by the Department. The claim of inferior mail facilities by the rural route from Webb Summit is surprising for the reason that the Department understood a change which has been made in the railway mail service at Webb Summit would enable the carrier from that office to make the same deliveries as were formerly made from Logan.

This matter, together with the suggestion that an extension of the rural route be authorized, will be carefully investigated.

Respectfully,

P. V. DeGraw,

Fourth Assistant Postmaster Gen.

Notice of Appointment.
